

Here is the background of our "All Day - Take Home" model:

This past school year, we have come a long way in our understanding of how best to implement Yondr in schools. Most Yondr schools have now implemented what we call the "All Day - Take Home" model. It sounded scary at first, but a progressive principal in Brooklyn pushed us to try this at the beginning of the 18/19 school year. It worked so well that almost every school has moved to this model.

Essentially, every student is responsible for their personal Yondr pouch at all times. When they unlock their pouch at the end of the day, they remove their phone and close the pouch again to keep it safe. The pouch goes in their backpack until the following morning when they self-administer Yondr again at the building entrance.

This eliminates storage and sorting and only requires a single administrator for a school of your size to monitor the process during arrival and dismissal.
